

GLORY AND HONOR

(Written by Philip Stanley Klein and Ellen Cotterill)

I'll honor and cherish You 'til death do I part
I'll hold You and keep You so deep in my heart
To have You, to know You, all my life through
'Til that day in Glory when I'll be with You

Through seasons of joy, through seasons of grief
You kept me in life and You met every need
You bought me, You saved me, You lifted my head
Gave me new life where once I was dead

Glory and Honor belong to the King
Majesty, Highest, let the earth sing
You, alone, are worthy; You, alone, are true
Forsaking all others, I give my life to You

So, this is my song of Worship and Love
Adoring and praising the heavens above
You kept me in sickness, You kept me in health
Once I was poor, now I have true wealth

Glory and Honor belong to the King
Majesty, Highest, let the earth sing
You, alone, are worthy; You, alone, are true
Forsaking all others, I give my life to You
